OCTOBER 2014

1 MA KINGSTON FASHION SHOW 2014

I was lucky enough to be invited to the end of year fashion show of the MA Fashion 2014 graduate students from Kingston University in London. This is where the students show their final pieces. I very much enjoyed the fantastic view from the front row. With 14 designers showcasing their work, you really were spoilt for choice. It was both menswear and womenswear which made it very exciting. The students outdid themselves and I'm sure all will go on to have successful careers. There were 3 in particular that caught my eye though. In fact I was tempted to eat beans for the rest of my life and buy their collections! These three designers had very different aesthetics.

Elena Gatsenko was classic with a twist. She created beautiful pieces that were all about the cut and attention to detail whilst still producing a dramatic and attractive effect. When talking to her after the show she mentioned that all the lace used in her designs was handmade in Indonesia. It's details like that, that really help you stand out!

Charlotte Ham also caught my eye. Her designs all had some form of cut out, but with another layer underneath. This layer was in a different colour or material. Some of her work was also 3D! Again, her pieces were ones that could be worn now or easily translated into a more ready to wear appropriate item. Upon talking to her after the show she told me how the inspiration for her collection was the negative space within a building, otherwise known as 'the void' in architecture. She was drawing the eye to the void. This may sound like a strange way to design clothing but do you know what? It worked! Her clothes were elegant, interesting and above all wearable.

And finally Niro Wang; I think Niro is very brave to not only enter into the fashion world with a surname already famous but also to design a sporty collection. Niro stamped his own identity onto the fashion world though with lots of different textures such as mesh, cotton and linen. He also designed a long line, or maxi, bomber jacket which shouldn't work but did...wonderfully! Niro mixed a sporty and a bohemian vibe to create, again, a very wearable collection. He told me that whilst he may share a name with Alexander Wang and have released a sports inspired collection, they are two very different designers and therefore products. Niro Wang is approaching it from the lifestyle side. He believes we should lead a 'positive and healthy lifestyle', hence using more natural materials such as linen. He has taken elements of the natural world and mixed them with elements of pop culture, creating a fabulous line. All three are ones to watch and definitely deserve to celebrate completing their degrees!

2 FASHION MONTH

We've been from New York, to London, Paris and Milan. Whew! And we've got some great trends for the coming seasons (see our trends section). This Fashion Month however has shown us that model Kendall Jenner appears to be here to stay, despite the naysayers questioning her ability and credentials as a model. We here at En Vie thinks she looks great on the catwalk! We've seen Beatles covers re-imagined on the catwalk at Tommy Hilfiger and countless numbers of bloggers on the front row. And through it all Anna Wintour looked fabulous. Bring on the next one!

3 BARBIE LAGERFELD

Yes, the unimaginable has happened! Barbie makers Mattel are teaming with Karl Lagerfeld to release a Barbie Doll that is styled just like the great Chanel designer himself! The wonderful doll was released in limited quantities on September 29th, so you may still just have time to snap one up!

Check out Net-A-Porter.com, Karl Lagerfeld stores or TheBarbieCollection.com to get your leather fingerless gloved hands on one.

POINTED FLATS

Again?! Yes, again! This time not just any pointed flat will do though. you need it to be more autumn friendly. Think loafers with pointed toes, lace up brogues with a chunky sole or go for a more floral effect as seen at Victoria Beckham.

07

FASHONH has brought us lots of new trends for S/S14

but here's how to incorporate them into your autumn/winter wardrobe now.

1. OVER THE KNEE BOOTS

Whether they are flat, block heeled or stilettos; over the knee boots are back with a vengeance. If you want to try something different from the usual brown or black versions, why not try a sexy grey suede pair? Wear with shorts and skater skirts for night and team with your faithful skinny jeans for a more relaxed look.

5. RIBS

Not the BBQ kind, but the ribbed knitwear kind. Think finely ribbed to keep it elegant and flattering. Try a dress with some pointed flats, or a tube midi skirt. You can always stick to tradition and rock a ribbed jumper with your leather trousers. If you're wearing a dress or skirt keep it more body conscious than baggy or you'll just disappear in it! (Although that does sound nice and cosy).

It doesn't matter whether they are A-line or pencil, midi or mini, the wrap skirt is THE skirt of the New York Fashion Week front row. You can wear with a crop top now, but switch to a ribbed jumper or polo neck when the temperatures cool.

4. SHIRTS

Yes, really. At New York Fashion Week shirts were seen on all the Front Row and street style bloggers. Team a blue and white striped shirt with a cute mini or your favourite jeans, ala Alexa Chung. Try a more structural, individual cut for evening, look to blogger Aimee Song and Elin Kling for inspiration.

6. Leopard Print Booties

There are two ways to wear this trend and not one of them includes looking like a Dynasty extra! A block heeled Chelsea boot works well for a daytime look. Use the boots to add a splash of excitement to your regular jeans and tee combo. For night wear a daring stiletto heel with your favourite LBD to make you walk taller and feel sexier.

A DROP IN THE DARK

Text / EMMA BRIGG Photography / MIKOLAJ KRAWCZUNAS -MIKOLAJKRAWCZUNAS.COM Model / IZA SIPKO Hair & Make up / ANNA PIECHOCKA Light Assistant / JAN NIEDZWIECKI Fashion Designer / LELIWA-KOPYSTYNSKA "GAUDI" COLLECTION n polls researching the world's favourite colours, blue is the colour which most consistently comes out on top. This popularity is no surprise - blue is a colour which looks good on anyone. Regardless of your colouring or figure, there is a shade of blue which will make you look fantastic.

Different shades of blue tend to rise and wane in popularity with the fashion seasons. In spring calmer more muted blues and pastels were the have-to-wear shades, but now more vibrant blues are taking the fashion world by storm. In shades ranging from bright cobalt and cyan, to deeper sapphire hues, these beautiful colours can be dressed up in a sexy-but-stylish dress, or played down when you feel like relaxing in a coloured knitwear sweater and jeans. If you don't feel up to wearing these stand-out colours in your clothing, they can still be included in your outfit through your accessories a cheerfully coloured bag or heels, a statement piece of jewellery, or even some dramatic blue eye makeup are all great ways to include the key colour for the season in your wardrobe in a slightly more subtle way. However, blue is a colour with such versatility that it is near impossible to do wrong, so why not embrace it and dare to be bright in the chillier months ahead?

The blue trend for this season extends to every shade of the colour, including navy and the pastels that were also popular in the spring, so keep an eye out for great pieces in every shade. Whether worn as a statement block colour or a highlight to an outfit of a contrasting colour, including a splash of blue in your ensemble can't fail to give you a look that is right on trend this autumn.

PERFECTING HEMESSYUPDC

Text / GEMMA DORLING Photography / SHARI RUZZI Model / NIKKI VERHOEVEN Make up & Styling / EFFI VAN SWAAL Hair / CHRIST MAENHOUT Location / MASS MUSEUM ANTWERP earing your hair poker straight and super smooth will always be popular but there are times when only the effortlessly chic will do. We love a messy updo and are glad to hear that this trend has been gathering pace, made particularly popular by festival goers. There are so many occasions which lend themselves to messy hair; think lunch with friends, a weekend shopping, a day at the office, and even a night on the town.

The secret to creating a spot on messy bun is to make it appear perfect without overcomplicating the style. Yes it does require some effort; after all there is a big difference between stylish messy hair and looking like you have just rolled out of bed. We have come up with two easy to create looks which fit this trend perfectly.

Topknot

This look works brilliantly if your hair is a bit dirty. Scrape your hair back into a high ponytail, keeping two small sections out, before securing with a band. Backcomb the ponytail in sections to add height and then pin these pieces to the base of the ponytail with Kirby grips. Finally plait the two sections you left out of the ponytail and then secure them to your head with grips.

Messy chignon

The messy chignon is perfect for a simple but elegant up do. To achieve the look put your hair into a ponytail centrally at the back of your head before using a wide tooth comb to loosely back comb it. Use Kirby grips to secure the lengths of the ponytail into the base to create a messy style chignon. Alternatively you can pin it to one side behind your ear for a bit of variation. Leave your fringe or any loose tendrils looking natural or loosely curl then so they are in keeping with the rest of the look.

Our sea, it's our world.

Farouk had kissed her, long and hotly then held her close as they'd looked out over this same darkening Mediterranean horizon. "Mare nostrum," Chloe'd murmured, trembling as his hand explored her décolleté token defence against his passion. He'd nodded, growling.

Now, as she huddled into a highnecked, long sleeved gown, she knew. He'd gone. The wind whipped the lower folds from her legs. She turned back towards the villa, where Xavier's taunts awaited her. The night she'd first met Farouk, Xavier had introduced her to more of his paunchy, balding financial cronies.

"Come and meet my fiancée," he'd boomed, leering through his dark beard at her. That was when she'd snapped. Hurling her drink at him, she'd fled to the serene dusk and gentle, lapping susurrations of the tide. Taut with rage and misery, she'd been dimly aware of a man on the shoreline. He'd turned as she approached. Dark, chiseled features lit up with a gentle, concerned smile. "Are you OK? Forgive me, but..." The voice caressed, the cadences suggesting confidence in his broad shoulders and muscular build. "No, I'm not." Suddenly, she was sobbing in his arms.

Tears punctuated her story of how Xavier, unless she married him, would betray her brother to the police for drug dealing.

"That's enough about me. You must think..."

"Chloe, my parents have arranged a marriage for me." He'd drawn her closer. "The girl and I feel nothing for each other. Men are hunting me back home."

She'd never been happier, but Xavier suspected. Guards patrolled the garden.

One late summer evening, as her wrap billowed in the wind, he'd told her.

"Any time now, beloved; I'll try to communicate, but it may be too dangerous."

The sea sighed. Her mobile buzzed.

ho wants to be a little bit daring? A little bit elusive? And offer a lot of intrigue? For those of you out there who do wish a little more for your wardrobe, the bourgeoning end-of-summer trend could be exactly what you need. Feathers are making their way onto the slender collarbones of European models. It is a mysterious and intriguing look that conjures up images of fantastical characters, moody temptresses and ultra-chic individuals.

This is not an everyday look that can be just put together for a drink at your local bar. It is a look that transpires through the pages of a high-gloss magazine and onto the silhouette of an expertly put together woman. A woman who treasures being more dramatic than dowdy and more magical than mundane will espouse this look and these women should embrace it for all that it has to offer. That is a sense of sophistication and individualism.

To pull off this look and avoid conjuring up images of Disney's Cruella Deville, one should be mindful of the rest of the outfit. Feathers must be the focal point of your outfit and not the added fluff to an already over-accessorised look. They have to be the statement piece, piece de resistance, literally the feather in your cap.

If the whole idea of incorporating feathers gets you in a flap try these three simplified looks. Firstly try an understated nude dress, be it long or short and adorn your décolletage with the same hue of feathers either as an accent on the dress or a necklace. Experiment by adding high gloss feathers to the ends of your sleeves like exquisite epaulettes. Lastly use a feather-made shrug to top off your LBD and head sky high for your fashion fantasies.

hoenix, Arizona-based photographer, Jeramie Campbell's work is energetic, young, and edgy. They vibrate with life and his subjects whether they are gorgeous models, fancy cars, or exotic landmarks jump off the photograph to reality.

"I love what I do. From automobiles to people, my passion for photography is about capturing the subtleties in all of my subjects," writes the up-andcoming photographer on his personal website.

He spent 4 years exclusively photographing automobiles in a studio. Before automobiles the young photographer worked with amateur and professional models, production artists, and corporations. He also spent time working for an art wholesaler. He had the opportunity to witness the formation of a plethora of fine art as well as photograph and help to create prints and giclee prints. Currently, he is focused on fashion, editorial, and travel photography. He has spent a good amount of time travelling the world taking photos of fashion and using the vast cultures of the world as a backdrop. His portfolio includes collaborations with top quality models, MUAs, hair stylists, and industry professionals as well as major brands and magazines such as Vogue, and Ferrari.

He looks to those closest to him for inspiration. His family and friends are also passionate about the arts including music, fine art, or cartoons. Campbell takes advantage of every opportunity that comes his way. Campbell embraces advancements in technology and often experiments with it in his work. "One could argue that technology is killing the arts," says Campbell. "I would disagree and say that it is pushing the arts to new levels it has never been to before."

ith plenty of fall/winter trends to choose from it is hard to choose just one to show off. Mixing trends can be a daring and fun way to have fun with fashion and express your particular mood. It is also a great way to stand out of a crowd and create your own unique 'trend' so to speak.

This season's runways offered a variety of trends to experiment with. This look, for example, is a perfect example of how to balance colours, textures, prints and styles. Stylist Kaylene West who started in the fashion industry of London in 2003 and has a collective 10 years international experience as a stylist, plays with many trends seen this season.

Folk and fantasy made a huge debut this season. Story-telling and theatrical styling is the key to this trend. Detailed embroideries, ethnic prints, and beautiful textures are paired together to perfection. Mixing traditional motifs with modern silhouettes create a futuristic mood that relates to the past.

A watercolour over-sized boho-inspired dress over monochrome striped pants and military black boots is edgy and soft at the same time. For a punch of attitude with a dose of whimsy feature this season's 'it" colour, blue, in a knee length skirt with fur armbands and snake-skinned crop top. Think playful with a touch of super chic. Fabric surfaces are reimagined in order to create a textured and detailed look. It always helps to add a touch of a classic print like leopard. Prints, particularly stripes, are expressed in new ways. As colder months set in, layer and feature the versatile qualities of woven fabrics, knits and jersey. Fresh and lightweight fabrics worn against superheavy materials, elicit a feeling of heavenly luxury. Fashion is about the individual and not a society full of look alikes. Instead of following every trend to the tee, try and mix a few together and create a beauty that is expressive, modern, artistic and totally you!

IVANOVA – TIMELESSLY CHIC

Text / GARGI CHAKRAVARTY Clothing / IVANOVA Prints / IGNAT ZAVADA Brooches / FREDINSKAYA JEWELRY

(( Fashion is a language that creates itself in clothes to interpret reality.))

This is precisely what designer Lena Ivanova's Autumn/Winter 2014 collection boasts of. Stocked in a number of boutiques across Eastern Europe, this winter, watch out for Lena's exclusive, tasteful and aesthetic attires.

Founded in 2007, Ukrainian womenswear brand IVANOVA is all about femininity, versatility, and beauty of fashion, catering to the everyday woman. Cool, casual yet classy describe the must-have pieces of every woman's wardrobe. Reticent colours, plain lines and sharp angles make this collection priceless. What's more? Apt use of chiffon, organza and laces that only act as an icing on the cake!

Lena's observant and perfectionist traits are visible in the clothing she offers. Natural fabrics, predominantly linen and cotton fuses the casual with the elegant, giving rise to a collection that is equally peppy, sober, stylish and svelte. A number of looks in the collection have an effortless day and night appeal.

From fantastic monochrome ensemble with the magic touch of sheer layer, to the coat with quilted sleeves, from white jacquard long dress to the simple greyish coat or the loose fitted Tee shirt, the dresses have a special appeal because they are so chaste. They are timelessly chic and perfectly wearable.

The prints in this collection are designed by Ignat Zavada, exclusively for IVANOVA, using conventional skillfulness. The girgeous brooches used are those of Ukrainian jewellery brand Fredinskaya Jewelry, founded in 2009 by Olga Fredinskaya.

Lena's latest collection explains the maxim that less is more. Minimal motifs can sometimes have the maximum impact. It's nothing but the truth that brand lvanova is set to take on the world. And so it will, with its latest urbane, youthful and contemporary collection that resonates with one and all.

akeup is one of the simplest ways to make a statement. Recently, incorporating makeup application with splashes of colour ranging from bright neon to metallic adds an element of fun to your look.

It was popular in the 80's and seen often in vast amounts. As the years have gone on, the trend has been refined. With sculpting techniques and a watchful eye, you have the choice on how dramatic you desire your look to be. At New York Fashion Week last year, the trend was revived in a variety of ways. At the Michael Kors SS 2013 show, they featured modern neon liner careful applied on the lid. While subtle, it provides a wink of colour without overwhelming the senses. Donna Karan SS 2013 featured whimsical halos of pink shadow with complimenting mascara. Missoni SS 2013 and Giles SS 2013 opted for clean neon lips while Alexandre Herchcovitch added futuristic flair with pastel eyeliner both on the lash line and the crease of the lid. The array of possibilities is endless, making it a versatile trend for any age and any occasion.

Encountering a technique that can be easily adjusted for day and evening is difficult to come by. Colour splash is one of the few that are successful. For example, during the day opt for clean lines, such as a colorful cat eye. When evening approaches, add more colour in smaller areas on the face; such as the eyelid or lips. The possibilities reach as far as your imagination. With versatility, clean lines and eccentric qualities, adding colour in innovative ways refreshes our senses and encourages creativity. We are a complex society, filled with life. It is absurd and fantastic, but often paralyzing. Uncomplicated fashion de-clutters our lives and allows us to be open to new ideas while expressing our souls.

R ock Etiquette was founded in 2010 by David Aragon, a long-time veteran of the Los Angeles fashion industry. David was born in Venezuela and has since lived in Colombia, Israel, and the United States. While working the nightlife in Tel Aviv and Hollywood, David recognized a need for sexybut-chic clothing. His mission is to make sleek, cosmopolitan styles available to everyone.

In 2013 an unstoppable team was born. As Latvia's most sought after artists, DJ Ella partnered with David to create a unique trendy balance of complete male and female fashion in one stop. As a model with a proven sense of style she has been featured in signature magazines including Cosmopolitan Latvia, FHM, Shape, Playboy and several other high fashion magazines.

In 2009 and 2010 Latvian Fashion Federation declared DJ Ella as being the most stylish Latvian DJ/singer and was the only Latvian performer nominated for "MTV Europe Music Awards" as the "Best Baltic Act". The opening of her own club / restaurant "Dstyle" in 2010 in the heart of Old Riga, became one of the most preferred entertainment places for Latvian celebrities, where various fashion, art and music related events take place, including the Riga Fashion Week official after parties.

Ella moved to L.A. 2 years ago, from the beginning of her music career her name was associated with fashion; She has DJ'd events for Valentino, Tory Burch, Jonathan Adler, Paige Denim, Top Shop, different Nordstrom Fashion events, Converse, 1 state, Cotton On and several others.

Ella and David have combined music, art and fashion in a cool, modern and exciting way.

air. Your love life may be in a rut with miscommunication and different goals. Share opinions calmly and without aggression. or else your relationship may change forever.

SCORPIO OCTOBER 23 -NOVEMBER 21

This month is your lucky month! The planets will be orbiting with positive energy, except for Saturn. Professionally, work will be completed comfortably if you are accurate and focus. Work hard and reward yourself with play next month. Relationships should be put on hold at a stable state. Think of everything twice before taken into action. If friends are there for any support, accept it and do not rush with decisions just yet.

AQUARIUS JANUARY 20 -FEBRUARY 18

The starting days of the month will be very important for the rest of the month. You may come across some exciting progress professionally and romantically with your constellation negativity passing through. Be prepared for some surprises. Execute your tasks carefully. The main thing is to not put your hands down if the starting days bring you bad news. Romantically, make sure you listen to what your partner needs to say and conflicts will be limited.

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 -DECEMBER 21

No planets will collide and you will be at peace with the classic order of things. Jupiter and Venus will help in any troubled situations. But in the work space, be attentive with what actions you move ahead with. Make sure not to doubt yourself. Romantically, you will have more luck since there is no aggressive planetary energy pulling you down. Now is the right time to get closer with that potential lover. Couples should focus on mutual goals.

PISCES FEBRUARY 19 - MARCH 20 Positive energy of the stars will surround you. There will be opportunities to show your skills at work so don't hesitate to do some social networking. Meet new people and you may find something new about yourself.

If you have time, travel and enjoy the 'adventure' rush with your loved ones. Try new things and if things go wrong, friends will be by your side. Work towards your goal and take advantage of the amount of positive energy you have this month!

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 19

You will encounter many fears this month. Circumstances may need to be accepted but with the Moon by your side you have no major fears to worry about. Professionally, things will be accomplished but the hard way.

Keep your eyes opened and think carefully before you finalise anything. Be prepared mentally for troubles that may fall into your hands. Keep your determination and self-confidence in focus. When it comes to relationships, keep your thoughts to yourself for now and if anything is bothering you, do it earlier in the month.

CANCER JUNE 21 - JULY 22

The planets are orbiting with negative energy so be sure to be a step ahead of things. Professionally, be prepared to face any unexpected circumstances. In relationships, if there is a problem that you haven't managed to speak up about, now is the time to do so. There may be painful tears and scars but you will learn from this. If the problem is at your fault, better apologise sincerely now.

TAURUS APRIL 20 - MAY 20

This month will be a harmonic one. Venus will protect you from negative vibes. But be careful, Pluto can be very explosive. Professionally, you will have a great outcome if done right. No mistakes and no spontaneity if you want that promotion. Romantically, as a seeker, take all the chances you can get because there's a high chance you might find your other half. If taken already, try and be less social this month. Your fundamental traits may put you in an unwanted situation.

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 22

The Sun will bring you more confidence than usual. But be careful with professional opportunities. You may get offers for partnerships of some sort but do not rush into results. Analyse carefully before making final decisions. With relationships, some friends and family will be coming to you for advice so be ready to give out some great advice. Romantically, stay away from anger. This month is your month to forgive.

GEMINI MAY 21 -JUNE 20

With very little support from the planets, you can only count on Mercury to do the job. Try not to make any major decisions this month. Don't set anything in stone, and give others the choice to finalise something.

Romantically, you may have competition getting that person into your arms. Be prepared to fight. Worst comes to worst, if defeated by another, you are not alone with the loyal friends you have.

VIRGO AUGUST 23 - SEPTEMBER 22

There is a lot of transformation in the energy of the planets but the outcome will be safe. Focus on what is currently most important and you will have opportunities to succeed financially. try and stay away from any opportunities coming your way.

Romantically, this month may be troublesome but don't worry, do not blame yourself! Work over romance, give your partner some distance and remind yourself of independence. Don't waste your energy dealing with everyday problems and hassles that are smaller than nothing.
